GRADUATES

With the world in the state of turmoil that it is at present, we must not forget the youths of today—for they will be the adults of tomorrow. The responsibility of the future will rest on each of you, and with this in mind, as you pass the first milestone of your education, and are ready to go into the last of the journey, that of entering high school—remember—it is on you we count for a brighter future.

May you succeed in your new undertaking and to each of you—the graduates of 1951—I bestow on you my heartiest congratulation, and wish you all a complete success.

—FRANK L. HODGE.
