Danielle Dudenhoeffer, a junior art student, and Debra Lee Snodgrass, a senior art student, are the two Art Students of the Week for their amazing talents in "pizza board weaving".

First introduced a couple of years ago by Mrs. Bingaman, pizza board weaving is a craft similar to weaving a rug. It started in the elementary and the high school crafts class started doing more complicated and different weaving sections.

Some, such as Danielle, did split weaving, which is very difficult. Some added beads, braids, abstract shapes, and made them colorful tapestry. Good job on your hard work, girls!
